Knowledge, patience, dedication — possessed by those who guide student endeavor within the doors of M.C.V.

M. C. V.'s
PRESIDENT

The Medical College of Virginia owes much to the leadership of Dr. R. Blackwell Smith, Jr., its fourth president. An alumnus of M.C.V. and a pharmacologist by profession, Dr. Smith has held several governmental positions and has served as Dean of the School of Pharmacy. As evidenced by the number of professional, scientific, and honorary organizations in which he is active, his well-rounded social and professional life makes him a valuable citizen as well as an able educator and a progressive leader.

To Our 1961 Graduates

On behalf of the faculty and administrative officers, I extend hearty congratulations to each member of the graduating classes.

The diploma you carry with you is evidence of the successful completion of a difficult assignment. We hope that the educational opportunity which you have received at this College has not only given you the scientific and technical base for constructive careers but has also nurtured within you a zeal for knowledge that will persist throughout life. If the College has succeeded in instilling an understanding of the fact that education is a continuous process, we are amply repaid for our efforts and will look forward with every confidence to your future and your happiness as fruitful citizens.

Our cordial good wishes accompany you.

In Memoriam

DR. WILLIAM BRANCH PORTER

Dr. Porter, professor emeritus of medicine, died October 4, 1960, at the age of 72. He was a native of Amelia County.

In 1911 he graduated from MCV. He served as an intern at the old Virginia Hospital here and as a resident at Hygeia Hospital here in 1912-13. He returned to MCV and became an associate in medicine and assistant professor of therapeutics and pharmacology. From 1917 to 1919 he was a major in the United States Army Medicine Service. He then returned to MCV. In 1923 he became physician-in-chief at Lewis-Gale Hospital in Roanoke but came back to MCV in 1926. For 29 years, Dr. Porter served as chairman of the Department of Medicine at MCV. Because of illness he retired in 1956. During this year the Board of Visitors elected him professor emeritus of medicine.

Dr. Porter is highly acclaimed for his contributions in the development in the School of Medicine. In 1952, 35 of his former residents formed in his honor the William Branch Porter Society. Each year it presents an award to the outstanding senior graduate in medicine.

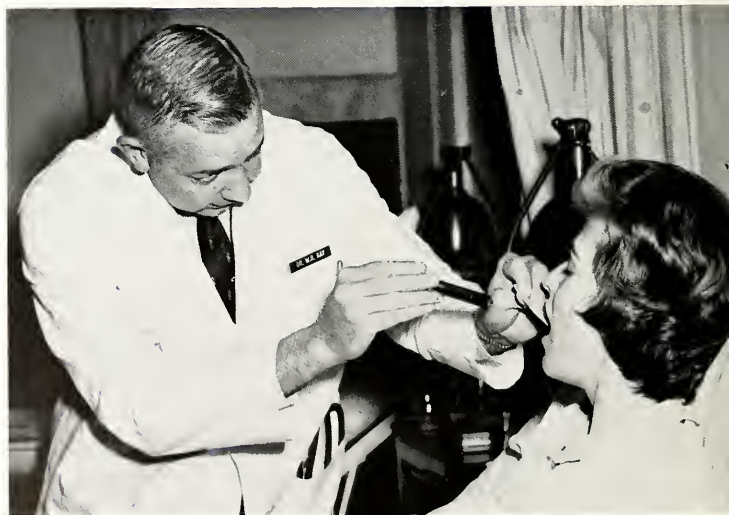

Dr. Porter was a fellow of the Association of American Physicians, past president of the American Clinical and Climatological Association, former vice chairman of the American Board of Internal Medicine, past chairman of the medical section of the Southern Medical Association, and past president of the Richmond Academy of Medicine.

MISS EDITH WEST, R.N.

The Student Health Service of the Medical College of Virginia provides medical care for all students. At some time, almost all of the students seek the help of Dr. William Kay, student health physician, and Miss Edith West, student health nurse. Services provided by this department include immunizations, x-rays, treatment of medical problems when they arise, and hospitalization when necessary.

SCHOOL of MEDICINE

Daily walk these who strive unendingly to serve and administer to the spiritual, physical and mental needs — with skill and sincere service, each new challenge is encountered.

Associate Professor of Medicine

DEDICATION

For stirring within us an enthusiasm for excellence, and for his stimulating clinical teaching, we respectfully dedicate our portion of the 1961 X-RAY to Dr. Richard H. Kirkland.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

We are physicians now—the rectangular parchment says so. We are vested with power to call a man back from the gates of death or send him plummeting into a chasm of iatrogenesis.

Hippocrates has dictated our creed and the chiefs our technique leaving for us only the will to serve. We can think of the human body either as a Temple of God or as the storyteller of Baghdad looked at it, "Man is but a minutely set, ingenious machine for turning with infinite artfulness, the red wine of Shiraz into urine."

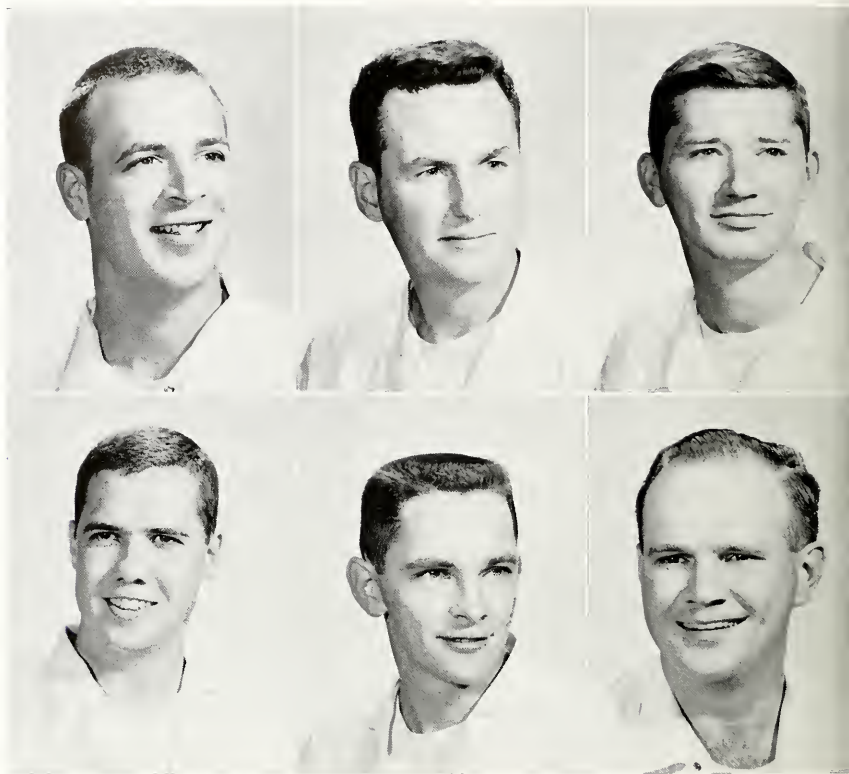

Discretion leads us down precarious paths. We are pressed by the patient to medicate and warned by counsels of old to think long before supplementing the natural forces. For Moliere said that, "nearly all men die of their medicines and not their disease," and Cicero reflected, "Because all the sick do not recover, then medicine is no art."

All that is left remaining then is to seek understanding, to have patience to wrench from Nature her secrets one by one, and as we stand by the bedside of the sick, their bodies a churning factory of interacting chemical systems their organs bombarded by hormones and toxins, may we be roused to wonder "how a harp with so many strings can stay in tune so long."

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

After a pleasurable summer of wondering if we had been promoted or not, the class of 1962 came roaring back in September to enter the promised land of clinical medicine.

We were greeted by two somewhat familiar faces, our deans, who proceeded to give us an inspiring pep talk that was to last us for our final two years. We then rather self-consciously donned our long awaited white jackets, pocketed our little black notebooks, casually grabbed our instrument-stuffed black bags and hustled out into the clinics and wards to apply some of our hard-earned knowledge. The excitement of being in the hospital at last made the first few weeks or so seem like a fine picnic. At first everyone called us "doctor" and said "yes, sir" and "no, sir" and we felt like pretty big wheels. It wasn't long though until it became "hey, you," "yep," "nope," and "do you have to stick me with that thing again?"

Our class also gained 14 new members when the students from West Virginia transferred. However, due to the splitting of the class into nine sections, we no longer had the close association that we had experienced during the first two years. We assembled day in and day out from 8-10 a.m. for the $10. per hour combined lectures.

Many minds were changed many times this year about future specialties. Those on surgery decided to go into medicine, and those on medicine decided to go into psychiatry. By the end of the year general practice was the rage.

The annual Christmas party was held at the Eagles Club and quite a few members of the class got far higher than any birds can fly. The year was also highlighted by several dances and picnics and numerous impromptu after-quiz parties. One thing our class has accomplished during its period at M.C.V. is to learn how to get relaxed stat.

The year passed by quickly and we learned quite a bit also. We found out that a Texas Special wasn't another name for a Colt '45; that a clinical clerkship is a fancy name for lab technician; that home surveys are wrecking the economy; that Boston is the center of the universe; and that nothing on T.V. can match the color of the Saturday morning debater.

This has been a profitable year to us all, with many varied experiences. We just have one more year to go and if the forces of Russia, Castro, or socialized medicine don't get us we just might make it after all.

If we of the Class of 1963 succeed at little else, we shall more than likely always have the self-satisfaction of knowing that our record was unequalled. In essence, we have made history. Our mortality rate to date has been nothing short of that on Beach Red in the Pacific—and they tell us that we are still expendable. So it is that we simply co-exist with this chronic tension state, realizing that those who keep their heads while all about them are losing theirs, have probably not grasped the situation adequately.

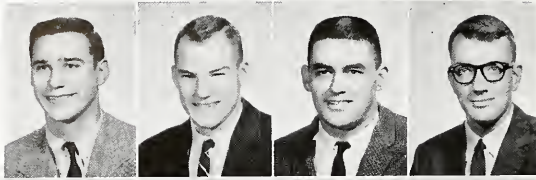

It was seemingly with the power of devotion to a lofty ideal that we approached the various courses of the curriculum, only to find ourselves involved with random mating of Hindus and Arabs, prevention of disease by dividing Rho into Pi, and prescriptions done in English. This and more led us to believe that we were not only too marvellously inadequate but also too pooped to even

“raise a skin wheal and flare.”

Therefore it remained for the occult impetus—the concept of grades—to spark each and every jellied cortex. This combination thorn in the side and spur in the flank was always to be found, front row and center. Into what dark corner has the natural stimulation to learn been cast? We wish we were not within the mark when we say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the kings that ever reigned, but together have not and will not affect the life of the medical student as powerfully as this concept of grades.

And yet through it all, the thickest and the thinnest, there is an aura as if some gargantuan grand mal were pending—it is the realization that there is possibly no more worthwhile a fashion in which to spend a year for those “who are here to add what they can from Life.”

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

From the first day at M.C.V., the members of the Class of 1964 realized that this would be a year of great decisions. Within hours of our arrival, we were confronted with the "great menace" of the modern world, the Personality Test. After four miserable hours, we decided almost unanimously that we had rather date pretty girls than keep a neat desk.

After making this first momentous decision, we were quickly indoctrinated into the imaginary world of gross anatomy where we learned that dynamite was not a tool of dissection. However, on the first practical, we found that most people could do just as well without it.

With equal rapidity we were faced by the "long tube." Due to many laborious hours and the recent development of the electron microscope, we learned that the ground mole had the longest sheathed artery and that the mouth of a crocodile was lined by stratified columnar epithelium. Perhaps our most infamous discovery was to encounter Leeuwenhoek's first microscope on the sixth row of our third practical.

Our introduction to neuroanatomy was equally traumatic. With modeling clay and erector set we began the unprecedented feat of constructing a brain with or without back-up lights and power steering.

At our Christmas Party our overloaded and well-worn synapses were given a well deserved rest. Although the healing graces of our elixer was only temporary, we found that our bloodshot arachnoid didn't seem to matter and that trees do exist in the middle of the road.

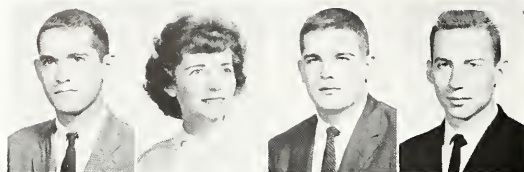

Our days in anatomy gone, we bravely moved on to biochemistry and physiology. Discounting a few minor setbacks, the days swiftly passed and the year was over.

The statement, "There is no substitute for hard work," holds true in all cases. To this, the Class of 1964 can surely testify. Our ups and downs were many. At times our goals seemed unattainable yet with each step, we grew both in mind and character. Let us hope we shall continue to do so.

We express our gratitude to our instructors, whose patience and guidance made our final goal one step closer.

"The moving finger writes; and having writ, moves on: nor all your pity nor wit shall lure it back to cancel half a line, nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Dental Class of 1961, respectfully dedicate this portion of the X-RAY to one who is sincere and devoted to his work. His kind yet unyielding constructive criticism, his equality of students, and his feelings for the student make him a superior teacher in our minds and memories. To know such principles is to know a real friend, Dr. Harry W. Fore, Jr.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Another year has come to pass, another chapter in the lives of the Class of '61. But this year holds a much greater reward than those of the past. Graduation, little more than a hazy speck of the imagination at the time we embarked upon our career of Dentistry, looms before us and crowds our minds with its significance and problems of preparedness. Can this truly be the goal we sought when we began the study of Dentistry? The pinnacle we had expected to attain with graduation has merely become another step in our endeavor to qualify as respected and able members of our profession. Self-education now becomes the promise of that fulfillment.

In retrospect, our years at the Medical College have been a combination of hope, anticipation, frustration, disappointment and Sippy diets, culminated by the jubilation of graduation. Plagued by such obstacles as the One a Week Club, the impossible Head and Neck Practical, and the resounding echo of despair to the more current memories such as the suicide at Hunton Hall and the familiar, "Ah, you gonna hafta do dat over", we have much to remind us of our four crowded years.

The problem of choosing a location and arranging for the purchase of the necessary office equipment or of pursuing some other avenue of Dentistry has been confronted and solved. Our selections are as diverse as the field of Dentistry. Happily there is no great deluge of graduates to any one position or location. Many of us have chosen to fulfill our service obligation before entering private practice. The wisdom of these decisions will only be apparent in the future.

As we leave the familiar pastel green of Wood Memorial to pursue our life's ambition we will take with us the memories of four pleasurable years, their heartaches and triumphs, all seen through a somewhat jaundiced eye.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

The doors we passed for two years with only a sneak look were now to be open. Several mysteries were soon to be solved. Was the straight hardpiece used for making preparations on a molar? Was the rubber dam and clamp used for a gingivectomy as the seniors said? Can I really give an injection? All these questions and more were soon answered at the expense of the patient.

As in our Freshmen and Sophomore years marriage continued with its exacting toll. The ranks of the "die-hard bachelors" have nearly been depleted. New arrivals were numerous among this group.

The year brought back breaking hours in the clinic along with long hours in the laboratory, which was especially crowded on Crown and Bridge Fridays. We'll remember these "labs" for their occasional outburst from "voices of authority"; V.M.I. football games; tales of the Citadel; phone calls with B.A.'s; talk of fraternity parties; demonstrations of "lab" projects; vigorous discussion of the presidential campaign; and various "cuts and stabs" for all.

We'll always be indebted to the instructors for the guidance and patience they have contributed throughout our first year in the clinic.

My name, Hosé von Hemansteinez. I'm from Old Country. My shep, it was made off course by a beeg storm what cause us to dock at Service, a cardinal country in the Western Hemisphere. I go ashore in a large city. Peoples were everywhere in front of department stores going and coming with signs on their back reading, "Go Home, German Police Dogs." I get entangle in crowd of students who push me in building. They all dress alike in top hat, Harris Tweed overcoat, and gold soldered buckle down shoes. The latter were custom made. They shove me into pastel basement where they commenced to put on long white robes. I find one in a beeg bin by the door and put it on. It is cleaner much than the worn ones. Soon we stand in front of green door that open like bear trap. One student rushes in but massive door catches his flying robes and drags him to hemorrhagic disaster. Nother student stoically steps over heem and enters other door to right. Sixty-three students follow and a significant degree of these have mobile black and green boxes. Three hours later we arrive at third floor. As we pass the bear trap orifice it deceptively yawns open and a megalamount of cadavers lie inside hidden in a misty half light that evilly portends a dire precipitation.

We enter class and student in front of me gets $3\frac{2}{3}$ demerits for baby blue wax on lab coat. I get two merits for original spelling of my name on pocket. After inspection we sit down and chat about bowling while teacher struggles to tie cinema screen to a tall assistant that he has brought from the Orient to aid him. Every time screen rolls up and carries professor and assistant with it. On fourth attempt he lost his short tie, shirt, crown, tooth and everything. Finally he secured lectern, assistant and heemself to rope and they all get elevated. From ceiling he discussed the acoustical qualities of a cross between the horse and donkey. Being an authority on Mooles and fluent in German, my old country, I made an "A" for the day. The next professor strode in spoking Creole Spanish. Being an authority on this, my father's fatherland, I understood and made another "A". The exam was in Bavarian dialect, my mother's native language. We had 343 multiple true-false answers.

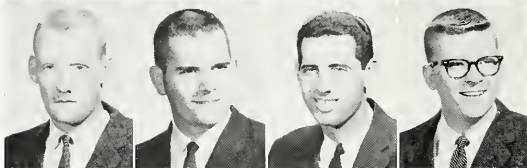

As you probably have guess, I became so proficient that I stayed on to finish the course. No one ever noticed me since without my glasses I looked like an elevator victim.

This is my story, Hosé von Hemansteinez, dentist. I could not pass any dental courses.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

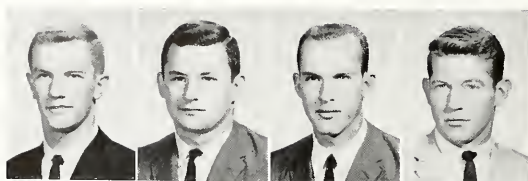

"We're freshmen gain!" "Is there much studying?", and "Wow!" These were the statements we heard regularly when we attended our first day of class. This was it, after all the toil, plans, and hopes, we were finally in Dental School. We had laid the foundation of our future in undergraduate school, and now the framework and finesse was next. I don't believe we have to remind ourselves of the proud feeling of knowing that we were considered best qualified—the chosen few, so to speak. We found out that if we wanted something bad enough, we had to work, and work we did. We not only worked with our minds but also with our hands, and for some students, that was a job in itself.

Years from now we will also reminisce the gayer and lighter side of our freshman year and recall our experiences. Do you remember our first slump test, the time the "prof" lit the filter of his cigarette during lecture, or the daily track race to biochem. class for a front row seat? Our first dental class party, our experience with the notice on the elevator door that no one wanted to read, and engraving our names on every item in sight with our new drills? I think everyone will recall these and other humorous times, but I think we will best remember the day we said, "We're sophomores!"

This is the first step of the four and one that will not be forgotten. We also can not forget Dean Lyons and the patient faculty. We want to thank them for their sincere interest and desire in helping each and every one of us. I know we'll carry that sincerity and interest with us through the years to pass on to others for "ours is not to take but to give."

SCHOOL of *P*HARMACY

Beyond the door of a pharmacy, there are men and women contributing their part as members of the health team. Through student days and continuing as registered pharmacists, the mixing and compounding of life-sustaining medications are outstanding roles performed.

Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Pharmacy Class of 1961, in grateful recognition of his sincere personal interest, profound knowledge, deep understanding, and sense of humor, respectfully dedicate this portion of the annual to Dr. Walter H. Hartung.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Four years ago we entered the freshman year with a roster of eighty-three prospective pharmacists. We had the incentive to learn even though we were somewhat dubious as to our fate. Those four years have not always been "easy sledding." Many problems confronted us.

As freshmen we found that General Chemistry under Mr. Pitts might be any man's downfall. Dr. Roscoe Hughs and his genetic cross-over made us wonder if we were meant for Pharmacy School. The sophomore year can't go unmentioned either. Dr. Peple, in his Literature class, enlightened us about King Arthur. "Art" and his Round Table were not as "square" as we would have them be. Although Mr. Taylor would have us believe that gravity was no problem to a good pharmacy student, Mrs. Harris soon injected some doubt in our minds when we worked some pharmacy math problems proving Clark's Rule.

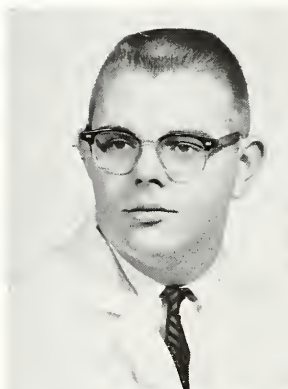

The junior year may have given all of us doubts. Dr. Neuroth's pigeon, being used to assay digitalis, would not hold his head up for Dr. Fischer's head nystagmus experiment. Dr. John Andracko, after one quarter, instilled in us the necessity of using four decimal places but he did not tell us how to use the conversion factor for making phenobarb by the barrel in Hospital Manufacturing.

The senior year of course started with a bang—Biochemistry! We were advised to close our eyes and "tink." All we could "tink" of was passing the course. The senior trip, although not a major problem, certainly gave us some answers to life in general. Commencement and the State Board Examination are our biggest hurdles left. But now after four years, we have developed that incentive to succeed to an extent where confidence excels our doubtfulness. We are even sure of the definition of a senior: "one who knows, and knows that he knows."

Our junior Year . . . This is the year toward which we looked as Sophomores with anxiety, hopefulness, and a sure feeling that school would definitely become easier!

Oh, what misconceptions we had! Surely we must have overlooked that quantitative analysis course which seemed to welcome us at the beginning of the year with its numerous problems and frantic lab work!

Characteristic also of the Junior Year is pharmacognosy with all of its plant cycles and anthraquinones and agar-agar structures. With time we may forget the cycles and structures, but never will we hesitate one moment in the identification of a digitalis leaf or a cascara sagrada bark from all the leaves and barks that nature has to offer!!

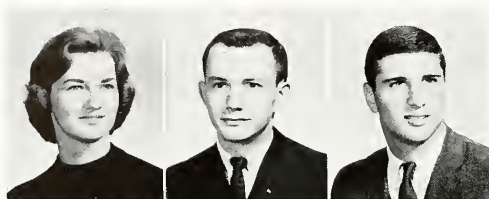

Long in our memories will live our Galenical course seasoned rather heavily with physical chemistry concepts, organic chemistry structures and the normal probably curves—which the class seemed to disprove rather frequently after our hour tests! We shall never forget our lab with its demerit system and its one thousand and one preparations to complete!!

Admire the problems such as school brings, the Junior Class spirit had not been dampened, for we found time to immensely enjoy all the parties, formal and informal, major sport events such as the intra-class football games, and also our springtime class picnics!!

This year, the Juniors worked very hard setting a precedent for M.C.V.'s School of Pharmacy. At the time this history was written, we were working to initiate a Ring Dance for the School of Pharmacy. A vote by ballot had been taken and it was in favor of appropriating a certain amount of money for the dance. The rest is now up to the Juniors!! All have their fingers crossed that the affair will be a success!

As the Junior Year draws to a close, we look again with anxiety toward our Senior year. This is the goal we have worked so hard to reach and we feel that we are now ready to accept the challenge it offers us because we are armed with knowledge and experience gained throughout the past three years here in Pharmacy School.

Supplemented by twenty-six transfers, the class of '63 began classes in September hindered by many apprehensive thoughts, most of which were initiated by upper-classmen. After one week of classes, we were tempted to quit, believing that their warnings were mild compared to what the sophomore year was really like. One of our professors somewhat alleviated these thoughts, however, by reminding us that the junior class was eighty strong—students who had been successful sophomores. This quickly renewed our determination and faith that we would be juniors, too, next year.

This year has been especially gratifying inasmuch as we had our first pharmacy courses—inorganic pharmaceutical, pharmacy math, and American Pharmacy (or whatever it's being called this week). We still don't quite understand aliquots or what a gastric antacid does, but we have now had some contact (other than selling aspirin in a drugstore) with our chosen profession.

Our other courses, organic, physics, economics, and English, requiring much time and concentration, provided us with priceless memories. Will we ever forget the organic quiz that "was too long because we hadn't been studying systematically!", the unexpected showers in lab received when disconnecting condensers before cutting off the water, or the eternal 4:50 p.m. count down? Mr. Taylor elicited a laugh the day he demonstrated equilibrium shift and remarked "when a person walks, especially a woman, the center of mass is shifted". We'll long remember the Malthusian theory and the Law of Supply and Demand as dutifully taught?? by Dr. Thomas, and the differences in the quizzes given by the two English professors.

As usual, fraternity rushing highlighted the fall social agenda, providing many parties and good times. Having to meet the noon deadline, many of us wondered whether we were making the right choice but, after signing the bid, there was no turning back. During January, it was not unusual to see a sophomore polishing a professor's shoes, numbering the sidewalk blocks around the dorm in Roman Numerals, or leading a duck on a leash. In March, it was the girls' turn to be stared at, all appearing for class looking rather pale (due to lack of makeup rather than a rough weekend) and carrying Yogi bears.

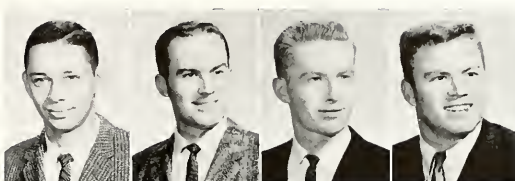

The scenery surrounding us has changed during our two years here. Many of the buildings have been torn down, the new Skull is open, and a nursery has been built next to the dorms (for our children or us?). The dorms themselves provide a center for much activity, not all of which is studying. No year is complete without the usual short-sheeting, music or joke sessions, bridge games, and an occasional helping hand to the policemen via telephone directions in the capture of a criminal.

No history is complete without mention of the entertainment provided us by the faculty, classes, and fraternities. At every party, dance, or picnic, the sophomores were well represented, regardless of quizzes scheduled for the following week.

As we look back we realize that this has been one of the shortest and most hectic years of our lives. We are now at the halfway mark of our journey and are eager to greet the junior year with the anticipation of more knowledge toward our chosen goal—to serve humanity as pharmacists.

Our freshman class is a small one. This very smallness of the class tends to bring us closer together than the larger classes of the student body.

College life is not new to any of us but the professional school is new, many of us are finding it difficult to adjust to a schedule of freshman and sophomore classes.

M.C.V. is offering a constant challenge and calls for hard work from all of us.

We realize that we are members of the health team. We are grateful for the opportunity to study pharmacy and we will try to live up to the confidence that M.C.V. has shown by their acceptance of us.

"... The happiness we find doing work we love. . . ." These words express the feeling of a young woman during the years as a student nurse, and as she stands on the threshold of becoming a graduate. Beyond the door lies opportunity for continuing enjoyment of and growth in nursing.

Dean, School of Nursing

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class, with deep appreciation, are proud to dedicate our portion of the annual to one who through her untiring efforts and ceaseless determination has brought our school to new recognition. Our heartfelt thanks to our Dean, Dr. Doris B. Yingling.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Is it possible that four years have passed? Yes, it was in September 1957 when many new faces appeared on Broad Street. Each had some apprehension about the future but were joyful that the pathway to nursing was just beginning.

Will we ever forget our first impressions of our roommates and Cabaniss Hall? After thorough warning from upper-classmen about the courses at M.C.V., we settled down to studying. That year brought many new experiences such as the breeding of fruit flies. A visit to Hernando's Hideaway was also on the agenda.

As we progressed to our blue uniforms, we were faced with our first clinical assignment in the hospital. Boy, were we scared! Anatomy helped us realize just how much we didn't know about the human body. We also became more familiar with the men from outer space as we entertained our little sisters. Much to the amazement of everyone, we lived through the sophomore year.

In the fall of 1959, each of us developed a case of stiff neck as the caps were placed on our heads. After recovering rather quickly, we began our experiences in psychiatry, pediatrics, obstetrics, and operating room.

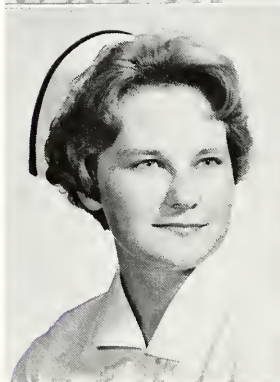

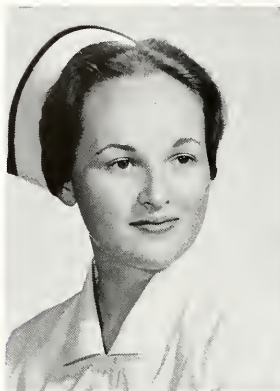

Then came the Senior Year! About the proudest time of all four years was the receiving of our black bands. Christmas brought many happy times—Christmas Dance, diamonds, and National Accreditation.

Our days at M.C.V. have truly been unforgettable ones. Now, we find ourselves at another horizon. There is truly joy but also sadness, pride but also humility as we begin our career as Nurses!

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

One much needed vacation, several scorched caps, and what seemed like an eternity later, the class of 1962 finally entered that long awaited Junior year after a hectic year as a "little blue bird". Among other things said was the ever present exclamation, "Will wonders never cease!"

Alarm clocks went off bright and early that first Monday morning, and thirty-nine eager student nurses hopped out of bed to at last don that white uniform and cap. Each of us was looking forward to the first day on each of the four special services—pediatrics, psychiatry, obstetrics, and the operating room—feeling that after the tedious sophomore year there couldn't possibly be much more to learn. Were we disillusioned!!! By the end of our three months on each service, we had become experts on such things as the fine art of getting a medication through the tightly clinched jaw of a four-year old, and had become very dexterous at the seemingly impossible task of putting on sterile gloves, operating room style, without contaminating them, or getting our hands hopelessly entangled. We had all pretty well adjusted to the conditioned response of suddenly losing a ravenous appetite upon one glimpse of the Cabaniss Hall Cafeteria, and found out the hard way how it feels to have clinical assignment 3-11 and then 7-3:30 on the next morning. Through it all, however, we all realized the tremendous responsibility that had been placed upon us, and enjoyed every minute of doing our best to be worthy of that responsibility.

Aside from our clinical activities, the class was faced with the usual money-making problems and trying to solve the questions that arose over the Junior-Senior breakfast and next year's Christmas Dance.

Now, with another much needed vacation coming up, alarm clocks don't go off quite so early and the thirty-nine student nurses don't hop so eagerly out of bed, but all are still proud to be a part of the Medical College of Virginia School of Nursing. We eagerly look forward to that final senior year, the black bands for our caps, and of course the march down the aisle at graduation.

The class of '63 declared itself "Sophomore" at a meeting in June, enthusiastically even if somewhat unofficially. It had just received eight new members, as well as box-loads of new and impressive blue uniforms. The world looked sunny, and the title "Freshman" was shed with relief.

In September the Associate Degree students received black bands for their caps while their Baccalaureate classmates sighed in admiration. Rehabilitation, pediatrics, and psychiatry were among the impressive studies pursued by the Associates. As they graduate in June each will carry the memory that it was during her second year that the Associate Degree program became the first in Virginia to be accredited.

And after what seemed like aeons of time the "little bluebirds" began their hospital experience. Among a multitude of hospital personnel Sophomore became a synonym for everything from sixth-grader to Sairy Gamp. Resolutely the miniature Nightingales squared their blue shoulders and blinked back an occasional tear—after all, how were we to know B.P. meant blood pressure instead of bedpan? Days passed and slowly confidence returned, accompanied by an ever-increasing gratitude for the wisdom and patience of instructors.

A new vocabulary was developed; Sophomores repeated with relish such important-sounding words as decubitus ulcer, myocardial infarction, peritonitis. . . . We became one another's guinea pigs for everything—bed baths, hypodermics, and non-dissective technique. (A fact which would surely have caused the end of less beautiful friendships.) Interspersed with anatomy and pharmacology there were numerous bridge games, trips to "the Skull", and heated political debates. Sophomores wondered, and learned, and wondered still more about all manners of things—the world, Widal's reaction, the West Virginia Club. What other group but this could compare the U.S.O. and the W.H.O. and make it sound almost logical? Who else would practice the application of sterile dressings to a Johnny Mathis rhythm?

A few classmates have dropped from our ranks, preferring matrimony or some other estate. But for most of us there is the anticipation of a white cap, soon to come. We have learned many things, academic and otherwise, and especially how little we know. But following this lesson in humility the tiny lamps are held higher, their faltering beams grow steadily brighter.

This was the tomorrow we had been waiting for. To most of the freshmen a new life lay ahead—that of college, but a new world with many traditions, customs, and expectations cast a prevailing spirit of enthusiasm over everyone.

With faces still sunburned, the freshmen arrived early in September to a maze of new activities and experiences. The visions of nursing coupled with continuous parties and teas helped orientation to pass quickly.

Soon an acid odor of formaldehyde wafted forth from the biology lab while an aroma of sulfur fumes emerged from the chemistry lab helping others to easily sense the freshmen embarking upon their quest for knowledge. A positive attitude with which we approached the newness of this life and eagerness with which we asked the "why" in a learning situation characterized the determination of the freshmen.

At first it was hard for us to realize that each day meant adding to our character foundations a strengthened integrity. Yet as we watched the seniors in their starched white uniforms and caps with black bands, the realization of what might be ours made a rough day or an especially hard assignment a little more bearable.

With cold November days, came the election of class officers. Soon after the election, exams loomed menacingly near. All else momentarily forgotten, we spent hours organizing notes and rereading chapters in an attempt to emerge triumphantly.

December gave the imaginative freshmen a chance to display their creative ability as we planned a Christmas program for the Student Association meeting. January found the freshman class busily preparing for the student-faculty tea while with February came preparations for the second quarter exams. March brought spring and an increased vitality to the now orientated students.

Now it's almost summer—a year quickly gone by. Present has turned to past. Yet we know that the simple truth, we have learned will burn like beacons to lighten our paths. The friends we have made through the coming years will last. And it is with a renewed hope and inspiration that we seventy-five freshmen baccalaureate and associate degree students await our sophomore year.

P HYSICAL
THERAPY

"To make the individual as completely independent as possible. . . ."

This goal of rehabilitation guides a physical therapist as he learns and practices. The reward for patience and sincere endeavor comes when the patient steps beyond the doors of the hospital, into the future.

MISS SUSANNE HIRT
*Technical Director,
School of Physical Therapy*

DEDICATION

With kindness, reassurance, and healing sympathy, she has taken away our doubts when we were least aware. By thoughtful prodding, patient endurance, and ready encouragement, she has lead us to realize the depth of our own potentials. She personifies the example which we will strive to follow in our future human relationships. Because she has fashioned the ladder by which we will rise to our highest dreams and though her work may be her own reward, we, the Senior Class of the School of Physical Therapy, gratefully dedicate our portion of the 1961 "X-RAY" to Miss Susanne Hirt.

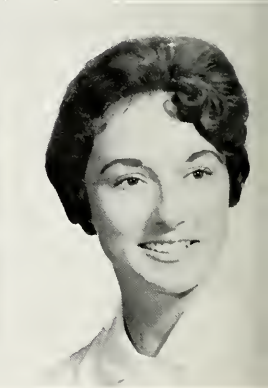

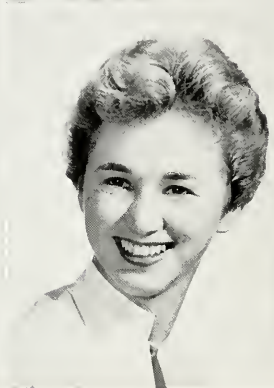

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

September, 1959 . . . enter the Public Terrors of '61 . . . the faculty cordially invited us to do our utmost to become Physical Therapists, and dared us to have the gall to pass just ONE of Susie's anatomy quizzes . . . Most of the problems of the American Physical Therapy student can be directly traced to the bunglings and greed of one Henry Gray and his few words on anatomy . . . Gym class kept us up to par—for a wheel chair, and crutches, and a parallel bar . . . Cadavers do not come ready-clad in pajamas; they possess, however, a di-STINK-tive air . . . Oh well, no more racing for a seat on the bus . . . The center of mass of any given body, or system of bodies, is such that if any plane is passed through it the mass moments on one side of the plane are equal to the mass moments on the other; more generally speaking, $M_1R_1 = m_2r_2$ —every one should have this gem of wisdom on the tip of his tongue . . . Tall cuboidal??? Short columnar??? That is the question . . . 'Tis much easier to cross Broad Street against a red light when limping on crutches . . . Tomorrow we will have a three hour quiz . . . The fibers of the cochlear nerve terminate in two nuclei; one anterior to the cerebellar peduncle. Now the dorsal cochlear nucleus—on the other hand, some people call it the tuberculum acusticum—oh well, it's all in the book anyway . . . It became increasingly evident that the head is not stuffed with cotton . . . STUPID STUDENTS! How many times I tell you, de' graft shows de' duration of isometric contraction, and also-o-o-o de' latent period between depolarization and concentric contraction . . . Oops! Where's my pithing needle? In that silly frog hopping out the door . . . The faculty wishes you a relatively Merry Christmas; little surprises await your safe return . . . We must develop a professional attitude and work on developing better kinesthetic awareness . . . Donkoff!! De' inductorium, it goes in de' primary circuit . . . Drop a pencil in here and your number's up . . . "Drop Foot," my dear, is layman's terminology . . . Bull your way through the exam . . . P.T.'s cannot live on bread alone; they must have peanut butter and tuna fish . . . Any time off may be attributed to a gross oversight on the part of our beloved faculty . . . No! Not the Hubbard Tank! I can't swim . . . Call me a masseur and I'll knock your block off . . . But paraffin must be brewed at one hundred and seventy-eight to reap the full therapeutic effect . . . Blessed is he who expects nothing for he shall never be disappointed . . . Bridge q.A.M., q.P.M., H.S., O.T.D. . . . I'll trade you six "Nodose" for a Dexamyl . . . The appropriate attire for night classes—pajamas, of course . . . But, there's no PAIN connected with electrical stim. It's merely an unusual sensation . . . Don't attempt to grade a muscle without considerable concentration on the matter—use the Ouija Board . . . Boys and girls, today we will practice our effluage to our G. Maximi . . . See that guy with no arms? I think these are his crutches I'm using . . . WE call it "Foot-in-Mouth Disease" . . . This intellectual life is so stimulating. When are we gonna have another party . . . Ignorance is Bliss . . . They don't call us the Happiness Kids for nottin' . . . V-V-Voom!! We're just smarter than the average bear . . . We're both dry and broke . . . But we must dedicate the yearbook to Yogi Bear . . . But I can't pack for Easter vacation—my suitcase is full of beer cans . . . God loved the failing P.T.—He made so many of us . . . Sigma Omicron Tau meetings held spontaneously at the "Skull and Bones" . . . Stretch that "Transitional," troops!! . . . The Senior Year "Paup-er Circumstance" . . . The lower extremity is, biomechanically speaking, a double pendulum, affording greater mechanical advantage with respect to the interaction of the length-tension and strength-duration principles . . . The faculty has agreed to take our "Piggy Banks" as collateral . . . End the Post-Christmas-Slump followed by Graduation-Elation . . . The lump in the throat, if you please, is due to nervous frustration and mental exhaustion . . . or is it . . . MCV is a part of our lives forever . . . Ah, the end of an "error!!!!"

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

"You are now in a professional school." These words were soon to take on new meaning for the twenty-four junior physical therapy students gathered in Memorial Hall in September, 1960. They meant finishing classes long after the sun had already called it a day, hours at our desks at night, and new and fascinating subjects to study. They also meant informal classes and a close student-faculty relationship.

Many experiences we shared will remain with us for years to come. Who can forget: "No, you needn't starch your shorts," Dr. Vultee's jokes, "you won't need to study for this quiz if you've paid attention in class," the 4 A.M.

fire drill, "your halters are here," or calisthenics in anatomy class.

Or what about: "Massage in this area elicits a reflex . . .", our fights with "phryysics", "Thank you, Horsey," the elevators in Memorial, "Will one of the men prepare to show us his muscles", or Silas "Twist" Butler's classes during the breaks.

This has been an enjoyable year. It has been a year of learning and a year of growing. We are now prepared to advance to the level of P.T.-lets. We are now much more prepared to answer the inevitable, "What exactly is physical therapy?"

DEDICATION

For your charm and wit;
For your dependability and loyalty;
For your enthusiasm and august interest in us, the Class of '61;
We respectfully dedicate this section of the X-RAY to you—

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

September 1959 represented the beginning for the Class of '61 in the school of hospital administration. Fifteen students gathered for the first time, together, in the old Newton House and on the face of it one would have certainly been surprised at the heterogeneous nature of these students' educational backgrounds, which varied from biology and business administration majors to an ordained minister. The nine months of the didactic program in this institution has brought to this group a homogeneous nature; we are a class, we are a family, and the relationships shared here will be remembered after entering the field of hospital administration.

Our education has been clinical rather than academic in nature. We have been exposed to specialists in this field; we have attended clinics, meetings and conferences for the purpose of obtaining practical rather than purely academic knowledge. We, as a class feel that in the years to come we will remember with grateful acknowledgement the methods utilized in preparing us as hospital administrators.

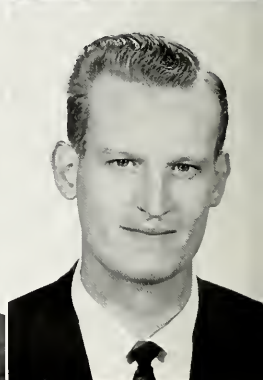

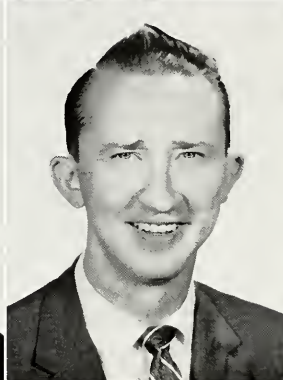

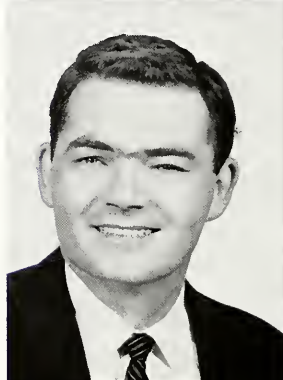

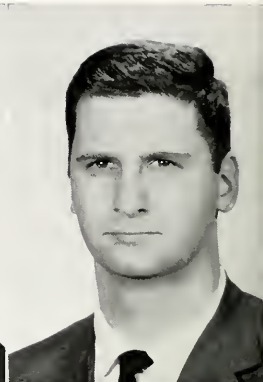

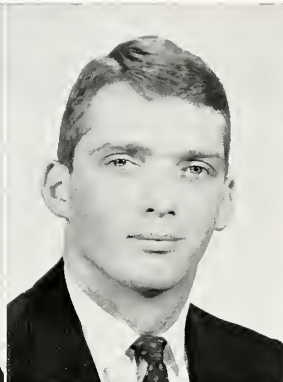

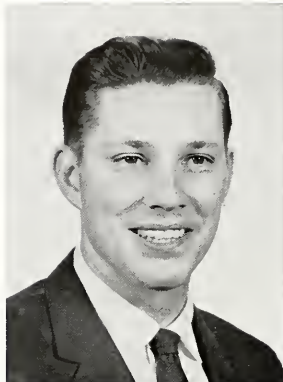

All has not been work, however; we will long remember social activities here in Richmond as a class, and our convention trips to Old Point Comfort and Roanoke. The social "high-lit" of the year was the week long trip to New York where we combined education with pleasure; undoubtedly we will remember the latter much longer than the former.

During the past year we have gone our separate ways, yet long shall be remembered the days we spent in the school of hospital administration at the Medical College of Virginia.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

We came . . .

Stepping from all walks of life, we gathered informally in front of the Egyptian Building; we had one goal in mind—to become hospital administrators. It was not long before we found that our ideas of good hospital administration were nebulous. We had much to learn.

We saw . . .

The year's academic program has been as diverse as our backgrounds: accounting, finance, law, medical service, research, statistics, and management.

Who can forget our confusion over legal parlance? Some looked for the "statue of frogs" for days before discovering that our law instructor was, in fact, referring to the Statute of Frauds.

Touring has played an important role in supporting this academic phase of our learning and has familiarized us with such awesome things as the great god maxitron, the clinicopathological conference, and the Supreme Court of Virginia.

We were enlightened . . .

There is only one kind of patient care—the best. There can be no compromise in this respect. Our job will be to provide the best patient care at the lowest possible cost.

Beyond the scope of gross examination, further aid is needed for diagnosis and study of disease. The never ending task of testing and retesting is performed by an efficient medical technologist. Invaluable service is rendered to the patient as this health team member makes his contribution.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Feeling, conspicuous and uncomfortable in our new white uniforms, the 1961 Class of Medical Technology assembled for the first time in September, 1960. Looking at the manual of the year's work, we wondered how we could ever even carry it, much less learn all the material which it contained. This strangeness was short-lived, and we soon became accustomed to the routine of lectures, lab, those endless tests, and the never-ceasing battle for the centrifuge.

Hematology, Serology, Blood Banking and Parasitology passed before we knew it. Then came November and with it our first experiences in the hospital. Knowing well we were twice as scared as the patients, somehow we blundered through and finally became master "vampires". Accompanying the arrival of the Christmas season was the general desire to have a party. The budget was blown to oblivion, but the banquet was well worth the expense, as the professors discarded their official bearing and joined with the students in the festivity.

With Christmas only a memory, the pressures increased, and we anticipated our final exam with numerous misgivings. March arrived, the dreaded final was survived, and we left Miss Thomas's competent instruction to begin rotating through the labs for our practical training. In June we finally obtained those long-awaited degrees. With the necessary knowledge and confidence, we look forward to September when we will be able to take our places as a useful part of the medical team.

DIETETIC INTERNS

The Medical College of Virginia Hospital offers a one year course in hospital dietetics to young women who have a B.S. degree from an accredited college or university and who can meet certain specific course requirements. The course is approved by the American Dietetic Association, and upon completion of the course, interns are eligible for membership in the Association, and may hold positions in class "A" hospitals in the capacity of administrative, therapeutic, clinic, or teaching dietitians.

Each September, the course is begun and students live in one of the college dormitories. During training, students receive a mixture of lecture and practical experience in the various departments. Instruction is given under the supervision of graduate dietitians in the Department of Dietetics.

After satisfactory completion of the course, dietetic interns are granted a certificate from the Hospital Division and are eligible for membership in the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is an organization of Baptist students on campuses throughout the Southern Baptist Convention. Its purpose is to help students maintain a "link" between their church at home and the campus. It encourages students to become a part of the churches in the vicinity of the campus. Fun and fellowship are a part of the B.S.U. program as well as the attempts to put the Christian way of life in the center of the students' campus life. Miss Marie Claypool is Director of the downtown schools in Richmond, which includes M.C.V.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

Led by Reverend Don Stanton, the nationally organized Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church at work on M.C.V.'s campus. It strives to provide for and fulfill the spiritual and social needs of the students.

STUDENT DIRECTORS

Much credit is to be given the student directors of the various religious organizations at the Medical College of Virginia. Through their efforts, the spiritual lives of students are guided and enriched. These leaders work together with students and faculty to plan for Campus Vespers services. The director of the Teusler Fellowship is Rev. A. Ronald Merrix; the Wesley Foundation, Rev. Don Stanton; the Westminster Fellowship, Miss Mary Lou Sechrist; the Baptist Student Union, Miss Marie Claypool; and the Lutheran Student Association, Rev. Charles Robertson.

LAENNEC SOCIETY

The Laennec Society was formed to unite the Catholic students of M.C.V. in fellowship and discussion of the spiritual and moral aspects of the practice in medicine and allied fields. This society was named for Rene Laennec, who gave classic descriptions of many intrathoracic diseases and who also invented the stethoscope.

SUNDAY SEMINAR

The Sunday Evening Seminar opens its proceedings by ransacking the kitchen refrigerator in Teusler Hall. We have seen there, in different poses, drinking coffee or cokes, male and female students from several of M.C.V.'s schools, and other post-graduate institutions as well, cracking jokes with a New Testament or psychology professor from a local seminary. Then they have discussed marriage, euthanasia, race relations, the New English Bible, the situation in the Congo and China, religion and politics, and cooperation between the professions for the most complete healing therapy. Weekly meetings at 6:30 p.m. are open to all students.

CAMPUS VESPERS

In Richmond's historic Monumental Church, on the edge of M.C.V.'s campus, a reverent service of worship known as Campus Vespers is conducted each Tuesday at 6:30 throughout the school year. Outstanding speakers have been heard, and have met with the students after the service for informal discussion.

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTION OF Y.M.C.A. M.C.V.

The Young Men's Christian Association at M.C.V. is one of six branches of the Y.M.C.A. of Metropolitan Richmond. It works specifically with the faculty and students of the Medical College of Virginia.

Y.M.C.A.'s on campuses throughout the nation, in fact, the world, are organizations whose sole purpose is program for the people and by the people. The traditional Y.M.C.A. symbol—the red triangle—stands for Spirit, Mind, Body; in otherwords, development of the "whole person," not just one particular phase. Thus, here at M.C.V. your "Y" Student Cabinet and the Board of Management are striving to ever increase program in these three major areas to do our part in helping develop the kind of professional man or woman who not only becomes a fine technician, but a well-rounded personality and leader in his own right as he serves mankind.

STUDENT NURSES ASSOCIATION

M.C.V. nursing students are active members of District III Student Nurses Association of Virginia. The NSNA, organized in 1953, is a national organization with state and district divisions. District III, with 255 members from the seven schools of nursing in Richmond and Petersburg, is only a small part of the 80,610 members of the National Association. It is the aim of this organization to aid in the development of student nurses as democratic citizens, to provide an opportunity for self-expression, and to stimulate an understanding of and interest in the programs of the graduate professional organizations.

The Medical College of Virginia Chapter of the Student American Medical Association is a young club which has rapidly taken its place among the organizations of the school since it was formed in 1952.

The objectives of this organization are to advance the profession of medicine, to contribute to the welfare and education of medical students on this campus, to strengthen the bond between the students of the Medical College of Virginia and the students of other medical schools, to make the members aware of the purposes and ideals of organized medicine, and to prepare them to meet the moral, ethical, and social obligations of the medical profession.

STUDENT DENTAL SOCIETY

The Student Dental Society was organized in its present form in the fall of 1946 and offers membership to all students in school of dentistry. The executive committee of the Medical College of Virginia chapter consists of the officers and two representatives from each class.

The chief objectives of this organization are the promotion of scholarship and professionalism among its members. A student loan fund is made available by the society for any student in need of financial assistance. Throughout the year the society sponsors guest lecturers for its members.

Alpha Sigma Chi is an honorary society founded at the Medical College of Virginia in 1938. Its prime purpose is to serve the college and student body by providing an organization with lofty ideals entirely above smallness, politics, or personal favoritism and to create a spirit of fellowship and co-operation among the four schools.

Members are chosen from the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Nursing. Those chosen must meet high standards of leadership, scholarship, and character and demonstrate ability and willingness to carry on student activities.

An honorary member is chosen annually from among the faculty.

Alpha Zeta Omega, National Pharmaceutical Fraternity, was founded at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science in 1919. The local chapter, Omega Chi, was organized at the Medical College of Virginia in 1951.

"Having discovered that through intimate association with one another, and by practice of the virtues of mutual trust, sympathy, faithfulness, and unselfishness, we have been able to advance our profession, exalt our alma mater, and build strongly our individual characters, and being desirous of maintaining and expanding that principle of association and friendship and cooperation, Alpha Zeta Omega was founded."

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association was organized in 1923, with its prime aim to create within the school a means of relaxation, exercise and diversion, and to encourage competitive spirit for the schools connected with the Medical College of Virginia. A complete schedule of intercollegiate play is maintained for both the girls' and men's softball and basketball teams. The Athletic Association also supervises men's intramural sports such as softball, basketball, and golf.

Dr. Alton D. Brashear and Dr. Milton L. Neuroth, as faculty advisors, have been active in maintaining the interest and spirit of the association. Of course a great deal of credit goes to Burton Parker for his enthusiasm and leadership during the past year.

THE MEDICETTES

The M.C.V. girls basketball team had a very exciting season, for the first time playing in competition with other colleges in Virginia as well as local high schools. The teams in the league this year included St. Gertrude's High School, R.P.I., William and Mary, St. Patrick's High School, Westhampton College, Mary Mount High School, and Longwood College.

Often the games conflicted with studying for tests, writing papers, and clinical experience, but there were always enough members to play.

Many thanks are due the coach, Cathy Pendleton, and the manager, Joan Vaughan, for all their efforts in organizing the team and getting them in playing condition. Many thanks, too, to each member of the team who represented our school with such spirit and enthusiasm.

Her proud heritage recall.
Let us laud her honor singing,
Her proud heritage recall.*

*Keep her beacon shining brightly
Through the scourge of death and pain,
That mankind may find its freedom,
Loose it's shackles, break it's chain.
That mankind may find it's freedom,
Loose it's shackles, break it's chain.*

*May she with each generation
Grow in love, increase in fame,
May her children bear her beacon,
To the halt, the blind, and lame.
May her children bear her beacon,
To the halt, the blind, and lame.*

*Hail our gracious ALMA MATER
As we face the future bright,
Pledged to serve man as his brother,
Comfort, heal, dispel the night.
Pledged to serve man as his brother,
Comfort, heal, dispel the night.*

—Words and Arrangement by GEORGE ARRINGTON, M.D.
